

NSW Marine Estate Community Wellbeing Surveys

NSW Greater Sydney Region

The NSW Government's Marine Estate Community Wellbeing Surveys provide valuable insight into our coastline from residents, youth and visitors. Using the responses to the surveys, we can track the benefits, threats, and trends in community wellbeing over time.

This fact sheet summarises key findings for the Greater Sydney region from Wave 1 of the Community Wellbeing Surveys.

The Greater Sydney region is comprised of areas located within 5km of the NSW coast within the Greater Sydney metropolitan area. Extending from Palm Beach at Pittwater in the north to Garie Beach in the south, it includes Sydney Harbour, Botany Bay and coastal parts of the Royal National Park.

“Taking walks along the coastline, going swimming, observing wildlife and the beauty of nature, it all contributes to my overall mental and physical wellbeing.”

Description: Manly Beach. Location: Manly.

“I visit Balmoral beach weekly and often more so in summer. Coastal walks help me when I’m going through stressful things in life or work, as I can get away from the city hustle and bustle.”

Our health. Our coast.

Engaging with the NSW coast provides many wellbeing benefits, including improving our physical and mental health as well as our quality of life.

52% of residents and 63% of youth in our region visit our marine estate at least once per week!

8.2/10

Score is given for how important the NSW coast is in contributing to our quality of life.

Our coast. Our legacy.

Our community considers protecting nature and ensuring that a healthy marine estate can be enjoyed by future generations as important reasons for managing our marine estate (average score of at least 8.4 out of 10 where 10 is ‘very important’).

Our legacy is the coastline we leave behind.

8.6/10
